St. Pierre A Scene of Death—None Were Saved.

THERE IS NO WATER

All Boats at Port De France Pressed Into the Rescue Service.

CITY IS WIPED OUT

Fort De France, May 12.—Practically every available vessel here, has been pressed into service for relief duty at St. Pierre and the environs. Food and other supplies are being hurried to the scene. Relief parties are working under tremendous difficulties. The terrible stench which arises from the corpses and aside from attending to the immediate wants of the survivors, the work is centered in disposing of the bodies. Firewood, quicklime and petroleum are used for this purpose. The water supply at St. Pierre is tainted or has disappeared and the refugees are in dire distress. It is estimated that thousands of persons who escaped the lava died from lack of food and water. Vaults in the bank of Martinique contain four hundred and ten dollars. Streets cannot be traced on account of the covering of lava which continues to run from Mount Pelé. Although in lessening streams the refugees are being transferred to this city as rapidly as possible.

The beach for the length of a mile from St. Pierre is strewn with debris of the ships destroyed. All of the trees on the island are bent sea ward. The cruiser Suchet and cable ship Poyer and Queertier have saved four thousand persons from the town of Le Précheur. The commander of the Suchet says the geography of the island is vastly modified, craters opening, new hills and valleys being suddenly formed. The refugees say new craters are opening in many directions. The rivers are overflowing their banks and large areas on the north end of the island are submerged. Other districts are crowded with refugees. Almost total darkness continues.

Need Staple Food.
Washington, May 12.—President Roosevelt this afternoon sent a special message to congress asking for an appropriation of half a million dollars for the relief of the volcanic sufferers at Martinique and St. Vincent. Roosevelt has ordered the state, navy and war departments to consult with each other and make arrangements for forwarding of supplies to the Martinique sufferers. He also requested the treasury department to be ready to utilize revenue cutters in transporting and distributing supplies.

Washington, May 12.—The secretary of state today received from Louis Arme, U. S. Consul at Point A. Pitre, Guadeloupe, who went to Martinique with instructions to investigate the St. Pierre situation, the following dispatch: "Disaster complete. City is wiped out. Consul Perin and family dead. Governor says thirty thousand perished. Fifty thousand homeless and hungry. I suggest the Red Cross be asked to send codfish, flour, beans, rice, salt meats and biscuits as quickly as possible."

Six Hundred Saved.
Marselles, May 12.—Commandant Bangs of the Colonial Infantry, who is here but whose relatives were in St. Pierre at the time of the eruption has received news from Minister of Colonies that six hundred inhabitants of Morne Rouge, seven kilometers from St. Pierre were saved.

Paris, May 12.—The following notice was posted this morning by the minister of colonies. Dispatch from the Governor of Martinique advises the ministry that of the entire population of 26,000 there are very few survivors. These survivors are able to furnish some information as to the destruction of St. Pierre. The town was overwhelmed and disappeared in a quarter hour. The following was also posted: The minister of marine received from the commander of the Suchet a telegram announcing this cruiser with the help of the Danish cruiser Valkyrie and the French Cable Co's steamer, the Poyer, started to bring back to Fort De France the entire population of Le Précheur. The volcano, the commander says, is still in eruption and there has been a fresh flow of lava from the crater over to the north end of the island. The situation at Guadeloupe is excellent.

NEW LOSSES REPORTED

Entire North End of Island Said to Be Destroyed.

Paris, May 12.—The Minister of the Colonies has received a dispatch saying that the entire north end of Martinique is destroyed with entire population. This includes a large number of villages as heretofore unreported.

LIEUT. GOV. STONE'S LIFE WORK IS DONE

Wisconsin Official's End Is Delayed by a Strong Constitution, but End Is Peaceful.

Watertown, Wis., May 12.—Lieutenant Governor Stone died last night at 8:17. His end was peaceful. At the bedside were Mrs. Stone, his son, Will C. Stone, and wife and Marshall J. Woodward, his business partner for over thirty years. During the morning Mr. Stone regained consciousness for a few minutes, and seemed to recognize those about his bedside, but immediately dropped off into the comatose state in which he lay for the last two days. After this his pulse began to grow weaker, and for several hours before his death it was so feeble as hardly to be discernible. For the last three days Mr. Stone had been unconscious. He bade farewell to his family Thursday evening, but his wonderful vitality delayed the end, which had been expected at any moment for the past forty-eight hours. Lieut. Gov. Stone had not been in robust health for some years. About six months ago stomach troubles gave him considerable annoyance, and a trip South was taken. This proved not so beneficial as hoped, and instead of gaining Mr. Stone lost strength. Lieutenant Governor Stone was serving his second term, having been first elected in 1898 and re-elected in 1900. He was a native of England, where he was born in 1836. He came to this country when a boy of 5 years with his parents. In 1869 he came to Wisconsin and located in Watertown, which was his home for the remainder of his life.

Lieutenant Governor Jesse Stone was born in the city of Lincoln, Lincolnshire, England, on August 23, 1836. He came to the United States when but five years old, settling with his parents at Watertown, New York. He was educated in the schools there and as a boy was noted for his inventive genius. He established himself in the soda cracker business in Louisville, Ky., in 1864, later going to Chicago. In 1869 he moved to Watertown and started the firm of Woodward & Stone, for the manufacture of confections and crackers. Aside from his interests in the factory he was a stockholder in the Johnson Electrical Co., Milwaukee, Wisconsin Telephone Co., vice president of the Bank of Watertown and president of the Watertown Gas Co.

In politics Mr. Stone played an important factor. His home town, a democratic stronghold, has three times elected him to the legislature. He has served on both national and state committees and was nominated and elected lieutenant governor in 1898 which office he has held since. Mr. Stone was a member of the Masonic order having received the thirty-second degree. He was also an Elk of good standing.

AERONAUT SEVERO DEAD.

The tragic death of the Brazilian Aeronaut Severo early this morning has shocked Paris. He started from his balloon shed about six o'clock. The balloon ascended easily and had reached an altitude of five hundred yards when a few pedestrians in the streets saw a volume of gas escaping from the balloon and the aeronaut standing in his ship gestulating wildly. The next moment a frightful explosion occurred as the escaping gas ignited from the petroleum motor. The balloon was blown to shreds and its occupant enveloped in flames fell to the stone pavement. The bodies of Severo and assistant being dashed to pieces. Mme. Severo witnessed the tragic death of her husband.

LA FOLLETTE ON STONES' DEATH

Takes Official Recognition of His Services—Capitol To Be Draped In Black.

Madison, Wis., May 12.—Gov. La Follette this afternoon issued a proclamation officially announcing the death of Lieut. Gov. Stone, in which he says in part: "As a private citizen Mr. Stone attained an honorable reputation and large measure of success in the business world and by reason of his industry and honesty as a public servant he earned the enduring respect and esteem of the people of the state, as well as the high honors accorded him, by the exercise of large abilities, modest dignity, unflinching courtesy and unswerving integrity. The repeated bestowal of public honors upon Mr. Stone in a district division of the state almost invariably opposed to the party with which he affiliated is an evidence of the general confidence reposed in him as a legislator and as the presiding officer in the higher legislative body he justified public judgment by the discharge of his responsibilities in the high-minded firmness and impartiality."

The Governor directs that in respect to Mr. Stone's memory the capitol be suitably draped in mourning, the flag to be displayed at half mast and that on the day of the funeral the executive and state departments be closed.

NEARLY DROWN IN THE RIVER

H. F. Lincoln and Richard McNeil Have Narrow Escape.

LAUNCH IS SUNK

Accident Occurs Near Four-Mile Bridge, Caused by Iron Stake.

WAS A PERILOUS TRIP

H. F. Lincoln and Richard McNeil had a narrow escape from drowning in Rock River near the Four Mile Bridge on Saturday afternoon. The launch the gentlemen were in was wrecked on a sunken iron at the old Dolson Dam and but for the daring swim of Mr. Lincoln both men might have gone to the bottom of the river.

Mr. Lincoln and Mr. McNeil started up the river for Mr. Lincoln's cottage in the launch. On board they had several articles of furniture for the cottage including two chairs and a portion of a cupboard. The launch makes about three and one half miles an hour and was going along at a good clip as it approached the old dam. The spring freshets have swept away the two flags that marked the channel and the two iron rods that have stood there for many years were just under the water sticking up. The rest of the river at this point is filled with stumps and is unsafe for navigation.

Strikes the Iron
As the launch came to a point where Mr. Lincoln thought the twenty foot passageway was, he steered up and putting on full steam made an attempt to go over the low spot. When just over the sunken dam the boat stopped with a quiver and with a grinding noise sank rapidly. Mr. McNeil made an attempt to pull the iron out of the bottom of the boat and finding this impossible climbed onto the peak that was sticking out of the water. Here he perched himself and except for wetting his feet kept dry until taken off.

Swims for Shore
Mr. Lincoln meanwhile stripped off his heavy rubber boots and overcoat and throwing the cupboard into the water jumped in to swim to the shore for aid. Mr. McNeil being unable to help himself in the water and the cold water and his friend's burden being more than Lincoln wished to tackle. Pushing the box ahead of him Mr. Lincoln reached shore and then made a run down the shore for a half mile to a boat that was tied to the shore.

McNeil perched upon the bow of the launch which was gradually filling and settling. When Lincoln made his appearance coming up the river with the row boat the water was up about McNeil's ankles.

He was wondering whether the boat would sink before Lincoln arrived and what he would do to keep from drowning. Lincoln hustled along and just as McNeil stepped from the launch into the row boat the launch sank in about ten feet of water.

The boat was made fast to a long rope. It was later hauled onto the beach and then it was found that the iron rod had gone through the bottom and had made a large hole. It will be repaired and placed in commission in a day or two. The engine was not at all damaged by its immersion and except for the two chairs that floated down the river and were picked up by a farmer all the property in the boat was recovered.

River Dangerous

At the point where the launch struck the iron the river is particularly dangerous. Except for some twenty feet the old dam site is not passable and this channel is usually marked by flags during the summer months to mark the course. On either side of the regular channel are stumps and sunken logs that make it most dangerous to navigate.

The farmer who picked up the chairs as they floated down the river, is said to have telephoned the sheriff that "he guessed some one was getting drowned down at the river and he better come and stop it."

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, May 12.—Judge H. M. Remley, whose decision that hard cider must be classed as whisky under the Iowa law has given rise to much dispute and some misunderstanding, does not, of course, include sweet cider in his judgement as was mistakenly stated. Judge Remley's ruling was based on the evidence that the grocer in the case had actually sold hard cider, and that the men who drank it got intoxicated. Furthermore the stuff was analyzed by a chemist, who found that it contained six per cent of alcohol. Judge Remley is a candidate for re-nomination, and it is charged that his political opponents are making powder out of his decision.

WASHINGTON WILL BE CROWDED FULL

Prospects Now Are The Coming G. A. R. Reunion Will Be The Largest Yet Held.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—From calculations made today by the officers of the local citizens' committee and Quartermaster General Burroughs of the G. A. R., it is concluded that the crowd in attendance at the 1902 encampment of the Grand Army in this city will surpass that of any previous reunion or any gathering of any nature in the national capital. The interest among the veterans generally, according to General Burroughs, is notably greater than ever before.

A better gauge in the opinion of encampment officials, is that the number of reservations for quarter has never been so great as it is now—about five months before the encampment—until a few weeks before the veterans were to assemble.

As special features of the encampment it is proposed to decorate all the public buildings on a scale hitherto not attempted to erect a court of honor in front of the White House, to have parades of the regular army, the militia and the Sons of Veterans, in addition to that of the Veterans, to have a military pageant representing the successive wars of the United States to dedicate a monument to Dr. F. H. Stephenson, founder of the G. A. R. and to lay the corner stone of the memorial bridge across the Potomac, between Washington monument grounds and Arlington cemetery.

DWINNELL NOT OVER SATISFIED

Father of the Minnesota Primary Bill Not Yet Sure It Is a Good Thing.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 12.—W. S. Dwinnell, father of the Minnesota primary election bill, who has been trying to determine for two years whether or not the present law is an improvement over the old one. Speaking about it today he said:

"I believe that the old system can be improved upon in a manner that will make it better than the primary system. The great trouble with the old system was the making of states a day or two before caucuses. These would be made in the interest of some particular candidate for the nomination, with no thought for the whole ticket. One state might be for sheriff and the other for treasurer."

It has occurred to me that better results might be secured from the old system if there was a law providing for the names of the proposed delegates being posted in conspicuous places at least a certain number of days before the caucus, and that these names have the endorsement of a certain number of citizens.

"I have received a great number of inquiries from other states in regard to our present system, and as I am not thoroughly satisfied, and as I am a success, I have advised them to await further results in Minnesota. It is generally conceded among the republicans, at least, that it did not bring good results two years ago, but that might have been an accident and we may do better this year. I consider it as being still in the experimental stage."

Senator Whitehead's Fifth Letter Full of Creating Party Power.

IS ABLY DISCUSSED

Over 20,000 Committeemen Under Present System in All Parties.

MUCH POWER GIVEN

Janesville, Wis., May 8, 11902.
To The Sentinel: The Stevens Bill elaborated a system of party committees which requires consideration. In each election district there was to be chosen at the primary election in September a committee of three. The person polling the highest number of votes was designated as the chairman of the committee. There was to be other committees as follows:

1. In each city, a central committee, made up of the chairman of the committees in the election districts in the city.
2. In each county, a central committee, made up of the chairman of the committees in the election districts in the county.
3. In each assembly district, a committee made up of the chairman of the committees in the election districts in the assembly district.
4. In each Senatorial district, a committee made up of the chairman of the committees of the assembly districts in the Senatorial district.
5. In each congressional district, a committee made up of the chairman of the county committees wholly or partially in the congressional district.
6. In the state, a central committee, made up of the chairman of county committees.
7. The central committee of each city and county and of the state was to choose from its own number a chairman and executive committee who, in turn, were to select a secretary.

8. Each candidate for congress, state senate, or assembly, immediately upon his nomination, was to select for his party central committee of his district, and from the number thereof a chairman, a secretary, and an executive committee.
9. Any vacancy in the place of an officer of any committee was to be filled in the same manner as the original officer was chosen.

The duties imposed by the bill upon members of party committees were as follows:

1. The chairman of a committee of a voting district was to represent his party at the polling place in his district during the canvass and return of the vote, to certify thereon to the accuracy and completeness of each duplicate return relating to his party, and to receive and keep one copy of such return for use in making any canvass of such vote required to be made without the voting district.
2. In a city ward, divided into two or more voting districts, the chairman of the committees of such districts were to canvass the whole vote of the ward and declare the nominee of their party for a ward officer.
3. The canvass of the vote of a city relating to nominees for city offices was to be made by the chairman of the committees of all the voting districts in the city.
4. The canvass required by either of the last two paragraphs was to be made at a suitable place as near as might be to the office of the city clerk, at a specified day and hour.
5. A canvass of a county vote was to be made by the chairman of the committees of all the voting districts in the county at, or at a suitable place as near as might be to, the office of the county clerk, at a specified day and hour.
6. A canvass of a party vote relating to state officers, congressmen, state senators and members of the assembly, was to be made by the chairman of the county central committees at the Capitol at a specified day and hour. In the case of state officers, all county chairmen, participated in the canvass, and in other cases the chairman of the counties wholly or partially in the districts concerned.

7. In proper years, Presidential electors were to be chosen by ballot by the county chairman, when they met as a state canvassing board.
8. All county chairmen making canvass were required to certify upon the return to the fullness and accuracy thereof.
9. If a chairman of a committee of a voting district could not exercise the power and perform the duties of his office, another member of his committee might be designated by him or chosen by lot, to act in his place.
10. In absence of the chairman of the county committee, the powers vested in him were exercised by the secretary of the committee.
11. A vacancy in the committee of the voting district was to be filled by the remaining members of the committee.
12. Vacancies in the nominations occurring after the holding of the primary election, were to be filled by the party committee of the city, county, district or state, as the case might be.
13. No member or officer of any party committee was to receive any

BIG Y. M. C. A. TALK TO MEN

Business Men Give Good Advice at The Sunday Meeting.

CHARACTER VALUE

George Parker, J. A. Craig, Wilson Lane and Others The Speakers.

PRACTICAL TALKS

Practical talks on the "Force of Character," good orchestra and vocal music, combined to make the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon one of the special interest to all who were present.

The orchestra rendered several good selections and a quartette consisting of Messrs. Kline, Richards, Taylor and Crawford sang several songs.

Wilson Lane said that character is the true philosophy of life as taught by the church. Christ is the church indeed. In professional life first be a Christian. Have an ideal and always stick to the truth.

Character Value
George S. Parker spoke of character from the business man's standpoint and said that character is the corner stone of the building of life, and is not the result of a day's effort but the result of years of striving for right and the truth. Every boy should have the moral courage to say no, when the conscience says it is necessary to do so. Employers are constantly on the lookout for young men of good character, so a good character pays as well from a moral standpoint.

C. C. Keesler, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. said that it was the purpose of the association to develop the mental, moral and physical character of young men to the highest degree.

Defends Corporations
Mr. Craig, of the Janesville Machine Co., said the day is past when corporations can be said to have no souls, and only care for making money. Character is now as prominent a feature of large corporations as it is of man's life. All large corporations succeed on character, while one that continues long in doing wrong, soon goes to the wall.

Three Essentials
Edward Ruger said that business men are looking for young men possessing truth, courtesy and ability. No man succeeds without putting himself in harmony with the truth. Character is the result of long continued faith, conduct and deeds.

Mr. Lewis expressed a desire that more men would attend the meetings, and that they would be heartily welcomed.

The boy that turned in the alarm is a little fellow and possibly did not realize what he was doing. Chief Spencer has the matter in hand and will decide what to do in the case.

nor, and, upon conviction, liable to a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than two thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than sixty days nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

There were, at the last election, 1740 voting districts in the state. There were four political parties that would have been entitled, under the Stevens bill to primary election ballots. At the first primary election held under the bill each political party would have elected 5,220 committeemen, and the four parties together would have chosen 20,880 committeemen.

This bill proposed to take under the charge of the law the internal affairs of all political parties in the state, and administer them by its own agents and officers according to its own prescribed methods. The duties laid upon committeemen were onerous. The chairman, or acting chairman, of the committee of each election district, was required, to look after important matters and perform specific duties in his own district, which would have been a part or all of a city ward, town or village; and then ex-officio he would have been a member of the central committee of his ward, town or village, if it contained more than one election district, of his city, if his district were a ward therein, of his county, and of his assembly district. He had also before him possible ex-officio membership in the central committee of his senatorial or congressional district, and of the state. If a resident of a town or village, he would have been ex-officio a member of at least two and possibly six central committees; if a resident of a city, of at least three and possibly seven.

All of this service was to be gratuitous, so far as the public knew, or was concerned. It would have occupied much of his time and would have caused considerable expense. The success of the plan claimed to be contained in the bill, depended upon the faithful performance of his duty by each committeeman in the chain. The bill sought to increase his diligence by holding severe penalties and punishments over him, but it proceeded on a wrong theory to insure efficiency. The courts would not have come to the rescue, had writs been asked to compel performance or prosecutions instituted for neglect or duty. The bill laid a public service upon committeemen, and public compensation therefore, should have been provided, not prohibited. The pay of 1,740 committeemen for each of four parties that might have taken into the account for services rendered under this bill, would have amounted to a tidy sum, but no matter, if the legislators were pledged to pass a bill declaring the business of a political party public business, and the officer and members of a party committee public officers, it was bound also to provide that the business be carried on and that the services of these officers be rendered at the public charge. If the need of such a bill were as urgent as its friends insisted, no doubt an early appeal would have been made to the legislature to provide public compensation of these officers. The disappointment of the people in regard to the way in which these committees would probably have been constituted, and to the difficulty which would have been experienced in holding committeemen to a strict accountability for the way in which they would have performed their duties, would have found its expression in legislative enactments that would indeed have brought the officers and members of these party committees within the pale of the law if the public judgment with reference to the condition of politics and political parties in our state were correct. If set forth in the arguments made before the legislature in behalf of a prior election law, then I have no doubt that there would soon have developed intense dissatisfaction with that part of the Stevens bill which created this system of party committees. It was a compact system. It effected a thorough concentration of party power. To this end a better system could hardly have been devised. If it were still necessary to add to the strength and durability of a system so well built up, the lack was supplied where the committees touched candidates for office having to do with valuable patronage, by placing them under the personal direction of such candidates, as witness the following:

"Each candidate for congress, state senate, or assembly, shall immediately upon his nomination, select a chairman, a secretary and an executive committee for his respective party district committee."

The sweets of office seldom fall upon the taste of anyone fortunate enough to be elected, and a man once seated in an office usually sees every possible reason in favor of his continuing therein, and of his using all the patronage at his command to strengthen his hold thereon. Give then, a committee system as that proposed in this bill, made up of the cost of men who would naturally offer themselves for a candidate for a committee service, so burdensome and onerous, unrequited, or who would be satisfied with the compensation to be paid out of the public treasury as such compensation goes, and who would be willing to be committed so fully to the interests of candidates for office as they would have been under that provision of the bill which I have just cited, and it will readily be seen that a political "machine" would have been created. In everyone of our assembly, senatorial and congressional districts, the like of which for efficiency had never been known in any such district in this state.

IRELAND MUST BE MADE FREE.
United League of America Issues an Urgent Address.

At a recent meeting of the executive of the United Irish League of America held in New York, the Ho-mann house, the necessity of taking immediate action to stop the decrease of the present power of the Emerald Isle was decided upon. It was also decided to call a national convention of the United Irish League of America some time in the fall to decide what would be the best method to pursue.

John F. Finnerty of Chicago presided at the recent meeting and eloquently described the condition of the people of Ireland and their treatment by the English government. It was also decided to issue a general call to the people of this country and friends of liberty. The call in part is:

"We desire to point out that no time in the history of the Irish movement have Irish people in Ireland been more united and determined. The Catholic priests and the people are not more united on the question of compulsory land purchase than are thousands of the Protestant yeomanry of Ulster, who like their Catholic brethren have suffered from the operation of felonious landlordism. The Irish claim to self-government has grown in strength, and from one end of Ireland to the other there exists a determination that Irishmen, not Englishmen, shall alone have the power to make laws to govern their country."

"The only practical way that we can aid the struggle is by supplying the financial resources necessary to the carrying on of her battle against a power which has all the ways and means of arch and mighty empire at its disposal."

"More than 100 branches of the United Irish League have been organized and others are in process of organization. The work of organization will proceed vigorously and without interruption until every important place in the United States has a working branch of the league in full operation. When the organization is fully matured the sympathy of the American Irish will be declared by the voice of a national convention. We ask the leaders of the United Irish League in Ireland to believe that the financial assistance sent so far is only an earnest of that which will follow, as the movement, promising though it is, has not reached maturity."

W. Bourke Cockran addressed the delegates, concluding in conclusion, that "Ireland sooner than most people imagine, secure her long lost rights."

MANY ADMITTED INTO THE CHURCH

Communion at The Congregational Church Sunday Morning Admitted Twenty-Five New Members.

Communion services at the Congregational church yesterday morning resulted in twenty-five new members joining the church. Rev. R. C. Denison officiated at the service. Prior to the communion Mrs. Seth Cushman solo in a way that won for her no much favorable comment.

Mrs. Cushman not only has a beautiful contralto voice but it is quite evident that she knows well how to handle it.

Miss Mira Chapin, who took communion yesterday is a representative from three generations of the same family. Her mother has been a member for many years and her grandmother, Mrs. Helen Dewey, is the only surviving charter member of the church.

Those received into the church yesterday were:
Mrs. James A. Knipp, Vine street;

First M. E. Church
Rev. James Churn took his text on Sunday morning from Genesis, chapter 32, verse 28: "Thy name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel; for as a Prince hast thou power with God and with men, and hast prevailed."

He said in part: We see that Jacob's name was changed to Israel. The history of Jacob was intensely interesting and has no equal in the world's history. Jacob was a prevalent in prayer. Saul's name was changed to Paul; two remarkable men of God, and both prevalent in prayer. Jacob was called a prince. What is prayer? It is the character, the vital breath, the help sought for; it is speaking to God. What does prayer do? It works miracles; prayer closed the mouths of lions as in the story of Daniel; it quenched the flame in the story of the three Hebrew children. I believe if we prayed more our churches would be filled. So it was with Jacob and Esau, but Esau saw the kindness of Jacob and refused to accept his gift. Rachel and Jacob were not opposed to Esau, although Jacob would have gone back to the king, but the Lord was with him and when as in the house with the angels and Jacob said to the angel: "I will not let thee go least thou bless me." Jacob felt the need of God with him and his brother. When Asaph, the Ethiopian, cried to God, it was a real prayer.

We may run from an unpleasant duty, but running away does not take away the duty. Some of the mightiest revivals that have taken place are just in this way: Closet prayer with God.

"Do you know why there is so much shallow Christianity? It is because we have not established the family altar, because we neglect the closet prayer. We shall be weak Christians unless we pray in our closets, as Jacob did."

An old Scotchman had wrestled night and day with God in prayer through his prevailing on God a great revival followed; let us be definite in prayer. Christ's prayer in the garden of Gethsemane: "Father if it be thy will, let this cup pass." Sometimes we say the least when we think the most.

A prayer a week long or a minute long has just as much in it to God; it is the attitude to God."

Presbyterian Church
"All things work for good for those who love the Lord." This was the text for Rev. Henderson's sermon at the Presbyterian church last evening.

The reverent gentleman said few statements in the Bible admit of universal application, but this does. It is a statement that applies with equal force to all. It is almost too good to believe but the results of centuries of experience bear proof of the truthfulness of the statement.

How does the Lord do good to all? By the happiness that comes from holiness. Scientists show that from the days of chaos to the beginning of animal life, nature has worked for good through evolution. And since the advent of animal life all things have worked for the good of man, the highest type of animal life.

All of the manifold trials we undergo are but for our betterment and eventually result in good. The lower animals can be used for man's own good, as can also the animal part of man be used for his own good.

All that is necessary for good is for man to love the Lord and live in the strictest harmony with the laws of the Lord. God's power is all on the side of the man who loves the Lord. Give the Lord your love and he will help you. If you really love Him you will expect good things.

The Epworth League held a Rain-bow programme at the Court Street Methodist church last evening. The meeting was a reunion of both branches of the League in the city and an interesting programme was given.

The congregation of the Baptist church gives a Reception Social on Tuesday evening, May 13th, eight to ten o'clock, church parlors. It will be a welcome to seventy new members and an opportunity to renew old acquaintances. Music, addresses, refreshments. We aim to make it a large and most pleasant occasion. Come without fail.

HORSE HAS STAGGERS

Drops on Milwaukee Street Bridge at Noon Sunday Causing Excitement

A horse belonging to a farmer living near the Institute for the Blind, created much excitement Sunday noon on the Milwaukee street bridge, being taken with an attack of blind staggers. The boy driving the horse got it unhitched from the buggy before it fell down and thus saved the buggy which would surely have been wrecked by its struggles.

A bystander who knew something about handling diseases of this character bled the horse, which quieted it and it was finally taken into the alley into the rear of the Hayes block where it fully recovered from the attack.

WEATHER FORECAST.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR STONE.

The death of Lieutenant Governor Jesse Stone was, not unexpected, and yet it comes as a shock to the state and occasions a feeling of personal loss to the many friends who for years had enjoyed the acquaintance, and comradeship of his genial presence. Mr. Stone had been closely identified with the development of the state for the past thirty years. His business interests were largely represented in Watertown, where he has resided since 1869. Scrupulously honest, possessing rare intelligence, and common sense, he was recognized as a substantial business man and an enterprising citizen. A staunch republican, and a popular leader were elements which won a place for him in the ranks of the party, where his council and advice was appreciated. He was a man of conservative principles, and rare good judgment, and his public and private life is an open book, that speaks for itself, requiring no eulogy.

He was a genial whole-souled man and to know him as a friend was to recognize the fact that he possessed traits of character that endured the test of acquaintance. The state has lost a faithful servant; the city where he resided, a worthy citizen; the circle of friends with whom he associated, a true friend. The impress of his life remains as a heritage.

THE DIESEL ENGINE

The International Power Co., of New York City, owns the right to manufacture, in America, the Diesel Engine, a German invention, for which the "Krupps" paid 2,000,000 Marks and the Rothschilds 80,000 pounds, for other European rights. Busch, the great brewer of St. Louis, paid $250,000 for American rights, which were afterwards transferred to the International Power Co., who are now the owners and manufacturers. Treasurer Hoadley, of this company, was recently interviewed by the Wall Street Journal, and makes the following interesting statement:

"The Diesel engine will make a greater revolution in industry than was ever contemplated by electric power transmission, and I consider it as great an advance in industry as was marked by the introduction of the steam engine."

"At Providence I am making Corliss engines and Wheelock engines, two of the most famous engines that the world has ever known; by using power through a Diesel engine and the cost of fuel for that Diesel engine is less than one quarter of what it was in the engine whose work it replaced."

"Where fuel has cost $40 per annum for horse power, the Diesel engine, with its combination of compressed air and oil, yields the power at a cost of less than $10 per horse power per annum. This is with oil at $2 per barrel, and we are going to have oil from Texas soon at $1 per barrel. I therefore do not dare to say how low can be the cost of a horse power through the Diesel engine from cheap oil fuel. It is so low now as to be beyond ordinary belief."

"At the Forty-second street building of the International Power Co., embracing eight stories and two basements, we are using 450 electric lights of 16 candle power each, and the power for them is obtained entirely from 23 gallons of oil per day through the Diesel engine, and that oil now costs 4 cents a gallon, and the fuel cost of creating 450 electric lights is only $1 per day."

"I can now replace horse power costing $60 per annum with horse power costing $6 per annum."

"We don't propose to sell any Diesel engines. We propose to install them right beside other engines at our own expense, and operated with our own engineers, and receive a part of the savings as compared with the other engine which it will displace. The manufacturer can keep his old engine just where it is. He cannot afford to do otherwise than pay us liberally for the power from the engine that he will permit us to erect."

Mr. Hoadley is a practical engineer, and knows what he is talking about. The Diesel engine is an oil and compressed air consumer, and if it creates the revolution in power anticipated, it will be some time before electricity will compete as a successful rival. Electric power is well adapted to light machinery. It is easy of transmission and dispenses with the service of an engineer. The Diesel engine is peculiarly adapted to heavy work, and with oil and air for fuel it seems to have everything to recommend it in the way of economy. The development of this new invention will be watched with interest.

SAFETY IN PUBLICITY.

The United States Steel Company frequently called the "billion dollar trust," is one of the very few large corporations to adopt the policy of publicity. Every stockholder, of the many thousands interested, is advised once a year of the amount of business transacted, the margin of profit if any, the assets and liabilities, in fact, a balance sheet, containing the most complete information.

The great corporation adopted this policy voluntarily. It would be well for the country if all corporations whose stock is scattered promiscuously, were compelled to do the same thing. If this were done, the number of fake schemes, that masquerade under the guise of stock companies, would greatly diminish, and an army of innocent investors would be protected by not investing.

The mania for speculation is worse than the mania for gambling. The latter is regarded as a sin from which good people shrink with holy horror, but the same class of people rush madly into wild and visionary schemes, where there is every chance to lose and absolutely none to win. The bank of Monte Carlo is a paradise compared to many of these wild schemes that infest the land at the present time.

The city of Elaso, Texas, on the border of Mexico and Arizona, is perhaps the craziest city in the country on mining speculations. It supports a chamber of commerce devoted largely to mines and mining. It has a large smelting plant which handles thousands of tons of ore, from the nearby fields. A few hours' ride in any direction lands you in the heart of the mining district. A miners' exchange is one of the busiest resorts in the town, and a northern man is soon impressed with the notion that gold brick worth 100 cents on the dollar are as plenty as Mexicans, while copper is altogether too abundant to command attention.

This southwestern Eldorado is a famous resort for the willey promoter, and he flourishes in all his glory. He has the mountains for a back ground, and if his statements are questioned he is ready to prove by ocular demonstration, that he is no liar. When he takes you out to a gulch and shows you a mine in working order, the average sucker can't produce his money fast enough, and as a result, he has a picnic all the year around. His victims are not natives. They know enough about mountains to know that scenery and boulders are the principle ingredients, and they know enough about promoters to let them promote the other brother.

Last December, one of the hot air companies made a raid on El Paso. There was a great deal of publicity about their announcement, which occupied a page in a local paper. They owned corner lots on most of the mountain tops in Arizona, and had a mortgage on all the gulches and boulders. In fact they had a title to almost everything in the territory, but the blue sky and atmosphere, and prompted by a spirit of liberality they proposed to let a few people in on the ground floor, by an opportunity to buy stock for a few days in a $10,000,000 corporation at ten cents per share.

A man from Wisconsin was rushing around the last day in the afternoon to take advantage of the situation, but his funds failed to arrive. He felt relieved however the next morning, when he was offered some of the same stock at 2 1/2 cents.

This is only one of a thousand schemes floated on the ground where the mines are located.

Mr. Wilmarth, formerly of the Gazette and now interested in the El Paso Herald, the best paper in that enterprising city, said, "tell my Janesville friends who are infatuated on mining stocks to come to me, and I will tell them what to leave alone, but further than that I am not prepared to go."

Mr. Wilmarth is also familiar with the Texas oil fields. He was in Beaumont when the "Lucas Gusher" sold for a million, and has kept close track of the country ever since. He says that oil fakes are worse than mining fakes, and both are a snare and delusion.

If Congress will pass a law compelling all stock corporations to adopt the policy of the steel company in regard to publicity, Janesville, as well as all other parts of the country will be protected from this class of frauds.

AN UNJUST SUSPICION.

The business men of the city of Janesville have reached the conclusion that they are being discriminated against by the Northwestern railroad and are taking action looking to a boycott of that system. It is claimed that under arrangements recently made a studied effort has been made to remove from that city as many railroad employees as possible. It is much more probable, however, that the road is simply handling its business affairs there in a strictly business way without attempting to favor or discriminate against the city, and such action on the part of the business men is foolish and unjust.

Such a suspicion arose in the minds of some Green Bay business men some time ago, against one of the roads running into Green Bay. It is a fact that some of the men employed here were moved to other places temporarily, but at the present time more men living in Green Bay are in the employ of that road than ever before. It was with no intent to discriminate that the road took the action it did, it was simply a matter of business economy, as is evidenced by the number of workmen in the city today. The business men of a city should allow to a railroad the same liberty to handle its business that they themselves use in handling their own.—Green Bay Gazette.

The loss of St. Pierre by volcanic eruption furnishes a chapter that is unrivaled in recent history. The city with 30,000 people, and all the Milwaukee organ devotes a column to "the mistakes of the republican league." The mistakes of the organ can be listed in less space. Its first and greatest mistake was when it was born, and the second is like unto it, for what purpose was it born?

The Oshkosh Northwestern is still quoting from the defunct Daily News. The paper has gone beyond the hope of resurrection, and the Oshkosh paper will hardly succeed in calling it back to life.

When you want to talk to a man go and see him. If the business is confidential send your friend. If there is nothing private about it write a letter.

"Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth." A telephone, a letter, a match and an explosion. The process is simple and inexpensive.

If Mr. Dahle would change his nationality, or move out of the state, the atmosphere around the capitol would be more wholesome.

The Senate may be slow to concur in the admission of the three new states. Six new senators with limited representatives is not the most desirable.

The Kress letters are still the object of discussion, in which the governor is gaining nothing but notoriety.

FOREST PARK CAR LINE RUNS SOON

The New Cars Have Been Shipped From The East.

BARN COMPLETED

Entire Service Will Be In Full Operation by Memorial Day.

TO BE AS GOOD AS NEW

Matters at the Janesville Street Railway barns will soon be in as good condition as before the fire of February 25th. The barn roof has been finished with a coat of tar and gravel and the interior will be ready for the reception of cars in a few days. The inside tracks have been laid and the wiring begun.

News Cars Shipped
Word has been received that the new cars, which were ordered the day after the fire, had been shipped from the factory in Worcester, Mass., about a week ago and will arrive in Janesville in a few days.

It is now expected that everything will be in good running order by Memorial day, with the full number of cars.

The Forest Park line will be put in operation as soon as the new cars arrive. This will be good news for the patrons of the line.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT.

Improvement of Prospect Avenue and Amendment to Franchise Up

The common council will meet in regular session at the council chamber this evening at eight o'clock. The meetings from now until the first of October will be called at 8 o'clock instead of 7:30 as heretofore. Several matters of importance will come up for a hearing this evening. The report of the Highway committee on the improvement of Prospect avenue which was recommended for improvement by the street assessment committee and laid over until this meeting will be heard.

The amendment to the ordinance of the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville railroad, allowing them to change their right of way to include two blocks in the loop, instead of one, will be introduced.

The report of the street assessment committee on the grading of North First street, which is now finished, will be introduced. The report of M. P. Richardson, who was engaged to revise the city ordinance, will be presented. Alderman Mills, of the Park committee, is anxious to improve and beautify the parks as suggested at the last meeting of the Twilight club. BIG HIGH SCHOOL MEET.

Beloit, Evansville, Clinton, Edgerton and Janesville Compete, May 17.

The High school athletic meet open to the high schools in the county will be held in this city on Saturday afternoon, May 17. The schedule of events will be similar to the schedule adopted for the interscholastic meet at Madison consisting of track and field events.

The cup belonging to the High schools of the county, was won by the Evansville high school last year and an extra effort is being made by the schools in this city and Beloit to wrest the trophy from Evansville. Beloit has secured the services of one of the college trainers and are making an extra effort to put a first class team in the field on Saturday. The Janesville boys have had a good deal of careful training and will have a team of athletes that will be hard to beat.

It is expected that there will be many close finishes at the park next Saturday afternoon. The schedule of events is not yet complete but will be ready in a day or so.

PALMA WELCOMED TO CUBAN CAPITAL

General Wood Orders the New Republic's Flag Hoisted on Morro Fortress.

THOUSANDS LINE THE STREETS

President-Elect Receives Warm Reception at Hands of Island's Inhabitants—Natives Decorate Wreck of the Maine in Honor of the Event.

Havana, May 12.—General Palma's tour through Cuba terminated yesterday with his arrival here soon after daybreak.

When the steamer Julia, on which the president and party were passengers from Matanzas, was sighted through the mist, the Cuban flag was hoisted over Morro Castle by order of General Wood. This was the signal for deafening salutes from the steamers, tugs, and launches, and from the cannon.

It was the first time the flag of Cuba had been raised on Morro, and it was an especial compliment by General Wood to the president-elect, and the incident evoked much favorable comment. The arrangements for the marine pageant were perfect. There was no crowding and no accidents to mar it. Every vessel from the steamer Mascotte down to the smallest launch kept its place in procession, which reached a mile in double column. It was a pretty sight as the prettily decorated craft steamed out to the Julia, which had come to anchor outside the harbor.

One hundred thousand compatriots waited in the hot sun to pay homage to the president going to Morro. There was noticeable and painful lack of tooting on the part of the escorting vessels, but as they approached the old castle the noise they made showed a thorough understanding between them, and the plot was well carried out. Standing on Cabanas' fortress' highest point was a group of American soldiers who waved hats and handkerchiefs.

Some thoughtful Cubans had caused the stars and stripes to be raised on a projecting mast top of the wrecked Maine, and a huge floral wreath, which was a mute but impressive contribution to the welcome of Palma.

There will be no coal mined in the Scranton end of the anthracite region to-day. Even though the strike order was not certain of being religiously obeyed, there would be no mining, as the companies agreed at a meeting of the general managers and superintendents on Saturday that no attempt would be made to operate.

Fire in Japanese Asylum Causes Loss of Life and Property.

Tokio, May 12.—About half past 4 o'clock on the morning of April 29 fire broke out in the Funaokayama lunatic asylum at Omya-Mura Otogi-Gori, on the northern suburbs of Kyoto. The flames started in one of the rooms occupied by a patient. Altogether, two blocks of buildings were destroyed before the flames were got under control, and of the thirty-nine patients who were in the hospital at the time of the outbreak eighteen, including two women, perished.

Uncle Sam's Mail Service

requires physical and mental ability of a high degree to withstand its hard labors. The high tension to which the nervous system is constantly subjected, has a depressing effect, and soon headache, backache, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, etc., develop in severe form. Such was the case of Mail Carrier S. F. Sweinhart, of Huntsville, Ala. he says: "An attack of pneumonia left me with muscular rheumatism, headache, and pains that seemed to be all over me. I was scarcely able to move for about a month when I decided to give Dr. Miles' Pain Pills and Nerve Plasters a trial. In three days I was again on my route and in two weeks I was free from pain and gaining in flesh and strength." Sold by all Druggists. Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

WHAT YOU DO, DO IT WELL

THIS IS IMPORTANT FOR HEALTH BUILDING IN MAY.

Thousands of Cures Made by PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

SHOULD CONVINCE YOU OF ITS VALUE.

"What you do, do it well," is the golden rule of business life. This rule and far reaching command can be profitably observed in many other conditions of life. In sickness and suffering it is all important that "what you do" to banish disease and restore lost health, should be well done. While prudence and common sense will in nearly every instance, direct you aright, the experience of your friends, and neighbors and the thousands rescued from sickness and suffering, will point directly to Paine's Celery Compound as the infallible health giver.

People who think they will get through with troubles such as rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, and nervous disorders by medicines which have not yet passed the experimental stage, will be sadly disappointed and will find their sufferings increased.

To get rid of rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia and nervous complaints, it is wisdom to use Paine's Celery Compound, a medicine that proceeds at once to make the appetite normal, sleep natural and refreshing, the nerves strong, as a foundation for building up health and vigor.

If sick people in May look for a true nerve strengthener, an honest blood purifier, a reliable diuretic, that will restore strength, renew vitality, regulate the kidneys, liver, and bowels, they should at once make use of Paine's Celery Compound, and note the pleasing results that flow from its use.

It's easy to dye with Diamond Dyes. Simple. Durable. Economical.

Friend's Clothing LABEL

will mean as much to you when you have worn a suit or overcoat, as the revolving light on a rocky point to the mariner at night. It is the good-clothes guide for every good dresser who values correctness in apparel and true clothes economy. The woollens and trimmings are the same and the tailoring in Friend's Clothing is better than the to-order tailor gives you, and costs you half his price.

Better seek for the Friend's Clothing label in your spring suit or overcoat. You'll find a perfect fit.

COINER REFUSES PROMOTION.

Employees of Mint Idle Because Man Refuses Responsibility.
Philadelphia, May 12.—The coining department in the United States mint in this city is tied up by the refusal of an appointee to take a position to which he was nominated by the president. Henry C. Boyer was relieved from the position of superintendent of the mint and John H. Landis, chief coiner, was promoted to the place. Albert A. Norris, chief clerk, was then appointed chief coiner, all the changes taking place on May 1. Landis accepted the promotion, but Norris refused, saying he preferred to remain in a position of less responsibility. Meanwhile the coining machines are idle, for under the regulations no coining can be done except under the personal superintendence of the chief coiner. The 250 'idle' employees are drawing about $3 a day each.

Kiss Leads to Wedding.
Omaha, Neb., May 12.—After returning from Cuba, where he helped sink the Merrimac, Oscar Delgnan was kissed by hundreds of American girls. Among them was Miss Maud Huntton of Stuart, Iowa. The little romance will terminate in the marriage of the couple at the bride's home in Stuart next Wednesday. Mr. Delgnan is still in the service of the United States navy.

Killed in Freight Wreck.
Appleton, Wis., May 12.—One freight train backed into another at Hortonville on the Ashland division of the Northwestern railway, and as a result eight cars are piled together in a ditch. Brakeman Klein of Kaukauna was instantly killed.

Cyclone Kills Birds.
Marshalltown, Ia., May 12.—Hundreds of Southern birds were found dead on the courthouse square. They are supposed to have been dropped by a cyclone passing high in the air.

Auto Company Bankrupt.
Milwaukee, Wis., May 12.—The Milwaukee Automobile company went into bankruptcy. The liabilities amount to $20,000. The company was recently sued for infringement of patents.
